Acknowledgment

The theme of this book is "Gone With the Wind." The drawings for this theme are by Warner Morgan, West Georgia student, who has contributed graciously of his talents.

The Foreword

The editors have tried to represent within this book the most interesting and most representative features of student life at West Georgia College during 1936-37. In keeping with this aim, they have chosen as the theme of the book, "Gone With the Wind," which is an example of typical Southern life. If, in future years this book causes one to relive his cherished experiences at W. G. C., our work will not have been in vain.

MARGARET MITCHELL
4 EAST SEVENTEENTH STREET N. E.
ATLANTA, GEORGIA

November 18, 1936

Dear Mr. Kelly:

I cannot tell you how much I appreciate the fact that the staff of The Chieftain is dedicating this year's annual to me and using "Gone With the Wind" as the theme of the volume. Honors are always sweet, of course, but never sweeter than when bestowed by those closest to us, those of our own State and section. You and the annual staff have made me very happy and I thank you.

Cordially,

Margaret Mitchell

Dedication

To Margaret Mitchell, who so graciously consented to our use of her magnificent book; who, when even at the pinnacle of success and fame, had time to be interested in the CHIEFTAIN; who has willingly co-operated with us at all times; who has taken great interest and pleasure in our work, we dedicate this, the fourth volume of the CHIEFTAIN.

Cotton when properly fitted into a farm program so as to maintain and improve our soils, is the greatest blessing to Southern Agriculture.

No crop, except cotton, produces all of the material requirements of mankind—clothing, food and feed for live stock.

We are proud that we have an important part to perform in a leading cotton producing section of our country, being "pioneers" here in cotton ginning and processing the seed and lint.
